

Leanne Wyvill

Leanne is an experienced corporate communications professional who helps people in business communicate with confidence. She has worked for iconic Queensland health and education services, in the public and private sectors, as well as with numerous start-ups, small businesses and not-for-profits. She now runs Presence Communications – an Ipswich-based training and services consultancy.

Leanne has been a faculty member at QUT and Griffith Universities, guiding undergraduate students in their development of highly sought-after graduate attributes. Her own academic achievements include a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) from the University of NSW and a Graduate Diploma in Communication Practice (with Distinction) from QUT. Leanne also has a Teachers' Diploma (Speech and Drama) from Trinity College of Music, London, and is a certified True Colors International facilitator.

Leanne is an active contributor to Queensland's innovation ecosystem, sharing her communication, training and facilitation expertise with Firestation 101 and emerging regional hubs. She is a co-designer and presenter of the Innovate Queensland program, which supports the state government's $405 million Advance Queensland initiative.
